

WorkComply

Medicaid agencies are faced with the challenge of (a) ensuring their members are complying with work and/or community engagement requirements, (b) not unnecessarily inconveniencing their members nor disenrolling them without cause, and (c) achieving both goals without spending millions of dollars.

Complying with Medicaid work and community engagement requirements doesn't need to be difficult to prove. Public Consulting Group's (PCG) WorkComply makes it easy for your members to check-in to any qualifying engagement with the push of a button on their device or a device at the qualified organization. WorkComply automatically tracks where and how long members are engaged and transmits this data to agency eligibility systems.

WorkComply was designed to help states achieve their goals by:

Making it easy for members to "check in" with a single push of a button our app and for community partners to verify participation

Automatically checking members out of an engagement when they leave the location's geofence

Making it easy for states to automate the process of tracking compliance via an administrative reporting dashboard and API and batch file date output options

Providing manual check-in, document upload, and exemption request functionality
