Kim Magoon is an Evaluation Manager specializing in children's behavioral health, child welfare, and substance use prevention evaluation. Her experience includes evaluating evidence-based services, conducting needs assessments and workload studies, and supporting strategic planning and business process redesign for state agencies. In addition to supervising staff and managing projects, she designs and delivers subject matter expert trainings for national organizations, including SAMHSA and the Child Welfare League of America.

Expertise

- Program and systems-level process, outcome, and impact evaluation
- Evidence-based practice fidelity evaluation
- Family First Prevention Services Act (FFPSA) programmatic continuous quality improvement
- Children's behavioral health system of care strategic planning and implementation support
- Workforce training and technical assistance center of excellence design

Education

Kim holds a Master of Science degree in Sociology from North Carolina State University and a Bachelor of Arts degree in Sociology and Juvenile/Family Justice from Thiel College. She is a certified Project Management Professional.

Experience

Kim brings nearly a decade of direct service experience supporting individuals with intellectual and developmental disabilities. Before joining PCG, she managed waiver intake and case management for adults and children at Seven Counties, a mental and behavioral health services provider. Her responsibilities included monthly home visits and monitoring Medicaid waiver spending, eligibility, patient liability, and service use.

Previously, Kim served as Residential Supervisor at Continuum of Colorado, managing a group home and supervising 14 full-time staff supporting six adults with developmental disabilities and complex medical needs. She also worked as a case manager at Developmental Pathways, coordinating services for children and adults across three Medicaid waivers.
